It would create a heavier workload for the SEP, unless another agency were to become involved with the children's waiver here in Jefferson County. Children's waivers are billed for time allocated, which should mean an increase in funding attached to the increased workload responsibilities. The State is essentially trying to get rid of Case Management in CCBs, and SEP is a likely target for conducting case management on the DD clients served (leaving CCBs to do only the more lucrative service provision). That bill has yet to be drafted, but this bill would appear to slice off the work they do with the Children's waiver.	not on agenda

Section 3 - We are concerned that this section (specifically 35-51- 111(3) specifically states affidavits will not be subject to review before recording. We would prefer they were subject to review or the County had the option to review them. Our concern is that certain changes that may be immaterial to the surveyor are not immaterial to the County. For instance, changing the calculated lot size from 10 to 9.9, may not be a material change to the surveyor, but that could have large impacts with County zoning requirements. Planning and Zoning would like to be able to review these items before they are submitted for recording. Section 4 - We have concerns that this new language effectively permits a third party to amend a plat document without any notice to the County. There is no language contained that would require any notification of where the liquor was going to be served, or how much could be served, or when it would be served. Without this information, there could be significant problems with enforcement of safety and legal requirements for the Sheriff and zoning requirements for P&Z. This bill presents significant problems for public entities for the administrative handling of its contracts. It requires full payment prior to the completion of projects including the withheld retention and strikes the requirement for surety approvals prior to making that payment. This payment requirement does not provide an exception for amounts the public entity is statutorily required to withhold for the benefit of subcontractors who may have a claim against the contract so it conflicts with current law. In addition it adds administrative burdens and expense to projects by requiring established escrows for the retention for each project. This bill would unreasonably limit the circumstances in which the County, as a local government, could acquire State Land Board property. Proposed statutory section 36-1- 124.3 would allow only two disposals to local governments in a fiscal year. In addition, the Board could only convey property to a local government for the three purposes identified in subsection (4)(b)(I)-(III). It is likely that none of these purposes would apply for at least one State Land Board property the County Open Space Division may be interested in acquiring. An observation of show-cause proceedings over the years would indicate that there already is a problem with convenience stores making under-age sales of 3.2% beer, and since this proposal would allow them to sell beer with more alcohol, there is a good chance of increased enforcement concerns for the Sheriff. The following issues also should be noted: (1) The County would do almost all of the licensing work for the new licenses but only get to keep $37.50 of the fees paid, which doesn't even begin to cover the staff time involved. This is not terribly different from the status quo, however. (2) The current law allows employees under 18 years of age to handle 3.2% beer stock as long as they are supervised by someone over 18. This bill give the examining board of plumbers the mandate to amend the State Plumbing Code to incorporate conservation standards which meet or exceed national standards. It also requires the use of locally produced plumbing materials, when possible. The County's Building Code must be at least as stringent as the State Code. This bill, therefore, would require the County to enforce any stricter conservation standards that the State Plumbing Board chooses to adopt. This would have a fiscal impact on the County and the citizens and builders who are required to meet these standards. Adoption of conservation standards for plumbing should be left to the local jursidiction. This bill should either be opposed or at least amended. This Bill proposes to allow the courts to recover fees and fines associated with a conviction of a defendant that paid a cash bond to obtain pretrial release from jail during the pendency of their court case. Usually cash bonds are returned to defendants when their case is completed, if they have attended all scheduled court appearances. This Bill envisions allowing the court to deduct the fines and fees charged to the defendant as the result of a conviction and then returning the balance to them. When a court sets a financial condition, it does so, or should do so, based on the court's perceived risk of a defendant's non-appearance. A bail amount should be set that ensures court appearance based on, among other things, the defendant's financial condition. Generally, this seems to be a good idea however, the protection order of the court may not be related to the highest crime charged, but instead be associated with a lesser charge. There may need to be an amendment that also requires that the information included in the Registry identify the crime charge that caused the court to initiate the protection order also.	not on agenda

While this currently would not be a problem for Jefferson County, this is authority we do not want granted to the state electrical board over our (or any local building departments) program. Should there ever be a valid reason to delay, or not adopt or adhere to the same edition of the electrical code as the state, we would lose the local prerogative. AMEND by striking Page 4, lines 1 - 15. SUPPORT - On page 11, lines 6 – 11: by striking the language, it has uncoupled local permit fees from the state fee schedule and we want the striking of this language to go forward.	not on agenda

While it certainly would be possible to streamline some of the process to avoid some duplication of efforts, requiring all three processes to be included in the same application would not necessarily allow for adequate consideration of all the relevant factors in each process. This also pits Health against Human Services, but Health believes that the cost of these certificates, which is estimated to be about $400,000 for local governments, can be absorbed much better by HCPF and county social service agencies than by CDPHE and local public health agencies, since we're looking at about a 10 to 1 difference in the overall funding of these agencies statewide.	support / amend

This bill would create a pilot program for the state to partially reimburse selected counties that agree to exempt business personal property tax to study the effect on economic growth. Counties, school districts, and other special districts are heavily dependent on business personal property taxes for revenue and, absent an alternative source of revenue, elimination of it would create too great a financial hardship. Even if there were economic growth in a county, the county might not see a significant replacement of the lost revenue since it would not be collecting any additional business personal property taxes on the new growth, while demands for services would be expected to increase. This bill would temporarily pass the burden for the lost revenue on to the state, which would create a financial hardship for the state.	oppose, tax

The Bill Permits a community corrections board, in its discretion, to allow an offender to provide a written statement and/or to have a person give an oral statement on the offender's behalf when the board reviews a Department of Corrections (DOC) referral for placement in their program. This is unnecessary because presently community corrections boards can take this action at their discretion. The Bill also, reaffirms a victim's right to make an oral statement and submit a written material providing their position on the offender's placement into the local community corrections program to a community corrections board. This is also unnecessary because the present law requires this. And, the Bill suggests that it is the responsibility of a local community corrections board to provide notice to the victim and their offender of the board's hearing to review the offender's proposed placement in their program. This is the responsibility of the DOC not that of local community corrections boards. If we want to be fair to both parties, ame	not on agenda

In concept this is a laudable idea. However, in practice, as described in the Bill, it will be difficult and costly to county government to implement. It requires County Sheriff's staff to "without limitation, advise all individuals sentenced to jail and defendants being held in jail pretrial of their right to vote, provide them with information on how to register and cast a ballot, provide them with voter information materials, and ensure that any mail or mailed-in ballots cast by the individual are delivered in a timely fashion". Recommend opposing the Bill unless it is amended to recognize that: • the period of jail incarceration varies from a few hours to over a year, so the language of the Bill should limit any obligation on county sheriffs to periods of incarceration that would certainly exceed a scheduled election; • many of the individuals incarcerated in County Jails do not live in the pc	not on agenda
